DASTARDLY OUTRAGE

Murderous Plot of the West Virginia Miners.

FRUSTRATED JUST IN TIME.

One of the Conspirators Confesses After Being Arrested—Mr. Wyant Was to Be Assassinated and Dynamite Bombs Were to Be Hurled Among the Soldiers—An Accident Prevents the Calamity.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 6.—Yesterday Governor MacCorckle received a telegram from Major Banks, commander at Eagle, stating that a man had been arrested at Montgomery with a dynamite cartridge on his person. The man was ordered to be brought to this city, which was done. When brought here he told a startling story. He said that he was engaged in the attack on Wyant's tipple, had attended all the meetings and knew all their plans. From his confession the following story is obtained.

Sunday night the governor received incendiary statements from a man purporting to be acting as mayor of Montgomery. They were to the effect that the military posse of the sheriff had no right to accompany the sheriff within the corporate limits of the town of Montgomery. This course would nullify the power of the sheriff of the county and no notice was taken of the statements. Things have developed since then to show that there was a desperate plan arranged to violate the law. The authorities have gotten into the whole business, and now know its true inwardness. The riot at Acme was carefully planned and was only frustrated by the action of the authorities. The strikers took to Acme 27 dynamite cartridges to blow up the works and to destroy the store, their purpose being to loot it.

The arrangement was made with the connivance of certain people to arrest Wyant, bring him to Montgomery and turn him over to the mob of miners.

In addition to this another dastardly and horrible outrage was to be perpetrated. When the soldiers came, accompanying the sheriff, making his arrests for murder, the dynamite cartridges, distributed already, fused with percussion caps, were to be lighted with lighted cigars and thrown among the troops and posse, maiming and killing the members thereof. This plan was partly carried out.

They were to bring Wyant to this place, where his life was to be taken, and then the riot was to be made down the railroad. As it happened, however, only a small part of this program was carried out. Wyant was arrested by the warrant sworn out before Squire Adkins, whose son was engaged and was one of the ringleaders in the strike, and for whom a warrant has been issued for murder. But when the four constables, one of whom had said that he would bring Wyant down to Montgomery or kill him, attempted to take Wyant to Montgomery, he resisted, and told him that he was perfectly willing to go to Fayetteville where he could have some sort of show, but he did not propose to be taken to Montgomery for the purpose of being killed by a mob.

He agreed to go to Fayetteville Monday morning, but refused to go Sunday night. It was carefully and certainly ascertained before morning that if he should be taken to Fayetteville he would in all probability be killed on the way, and yesterday morning, ascertaining that fact, he called on the military for protection, and when the constables attempted to take him one of them was arrested for murder, and a platoon of soldiers took Wyant to Fayetteville, where he would have his preliminary trial. It was ascertained that the road was picketed by the men who had been in the strike, and if it had not been for the protection of the military his life would have been taken.

The authorities have gone fully to the bottom of the whole matter. They have ascertained that the attack on Wyant was prearranged and the next morning it was intended to take Edgewater, the adjacent mine. This was frustrated by the prompt action of the governor in having the military on hand. There is a vast deal of excitement, and since the dastardly and outrageous attempt to kill by dynamite the soldiers and posse accompanying the sheriff in making the arrests, there is a deep seated feeling of indignation, both at the men who were engaged in this and at the men at Montgomery, who have been aiding and abetting in these outrages. Vigorous measures have been taken to arrest the men engaged in this dastardly business.

The strikers stated in their meeting Sunday night and on the night before that if any more arrests were made that the jail at Fayetteville would be broken and the prisoners released. There is great apprehension that it will be attempted and it is understood that the governor will have a company of troops there to see that this is not done. It looks as if there is going to be great trouble. The vigorous methods of the authorities in arresting these people seems to have had its effect in stopping contemplated concentrated outrages, but it is impossible to tell exactly what will be the outcome. The sheriff, without the military, has been powerless, and the attempt of certain people in Montgomery to thwart and interfere with the civil authorities in their attempt to arrest the men engaged in the desperate deeds of the last few days is meeting with universal indignation.

It was only an accident that this villainous outrage upon the posses was not carried out. It was the intention of the authorities to take a posse and arrest a number of people in Montgomery for whom warrants had been issued, but at the last moment, by reason of a change of affairs brought on by the arrest of Wyant, it was not done and the lives of the soldiers were saved by changing the making of the arrests elsewhere. This is all that saved the lives of the men who were innocent of anything more than the fact that they had been summoned by the legal authorities to assist in maintaining the good name of the state.

This story has the perfect credence of the state officials and is given under their full sanction.

Twenty loaded cars of the Chesapeake and Ohio road were burned by strikers at Paint Creek, 10 miles below Eagle, yesterday. The cars were standing on a switch. A general outbreak is momentarily expected as the strikers are becoming emboldened by their recent success with the torch.

DOINGS OF CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—In the house Rev. Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist, who is conducting a series of revivals here with Mr. Sankey, delivered the prayer this morning.

Mr. Breckinridge reported the urgent deficiency bill with senate amendments. The latter were nonconcurring and the bill was sent to the conference.

The speaker then recognized Mr. Joseph, the delegate from New Mexico, to move the passage of the bill for admission of New Mexico, under suspension of the rules. This bill had been the special order after the second morning fight began, the house has never passed to the second morning hour, other business having constantly intervened.

Mr. Cannon (R.P., Ills.) demanded a second. The Republicans as a rule declined to vote and the quorum was broken—117 to 1. Mr. Cannon making the point.

After a few minutes, it being apparent that the Democrats alone could not muster a quorum, Mr. Joseph withdrew the bill and the house went into committee of the whole on the pension appropriation bill. This measure was debated all day and at times considerable spirit was displayed. The principal speakers were Messrs. Dolliver, Hepburn, Enloe and Cannon.

But Little Done in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The senate held a short session yesterday and but little business of importance was transacted. A brief debate on silver was precipitated by the intention expressed by the vice president to refer the Island seigniorage bill (which had just been received from the house), to the finance committee.

Mr. Stewart of Nevada opposed this disposition of the bill and asked that it be allowed to lie on the table, subject to being called up at any time. This was finally ordered.

Mr. Stewart at the same time offered a free silver amendment to the bill. The only other event of interest was the offering by Mr. Morgan of Louisiana of a resolution, looking to the appointment of a tariff commission, which he offered as an amendment to the tariff bill. A number of bills of minor importance were passed. The McGarrah bill was taken from the calendar, but went over on objection from Mr. Morrill.

An executive session of a little more than an hour was held, and a number of nominations confirmed.

TARIFF BILL NOT YET READY.

Considerable Work Yet to Be Done Before It Is Reported.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Senators Jones, McPherson and Vest continued their work on the Wilson bill at the Capitol until 10 o'clock last night, but did not get the bill in shape to suit them and stopped at that hour. They announced at the conclusion of the meeting that the bill would not be in shape to be reported to the full committee today.

The senators had the clerk of the house ways and means committee with them during the meeting, and it is understood that they went over many of the items of the bill, making careful comparisons of the changes with the house bill. It has been found that some of the amendments made do not consist with the main portions of the bill, and many corrections have been found necessary at the last hour. This work is consuming much of the time of the committee as well as that which it is necessary to give to the fixing the rates on the disputed item.

Negroes Going to Africa.

ATLANTA, March 6.—A party of 30 negroes left here last night for Africa. Three thousand negroes were at the depot to see the emigrants off and there was great commotion among those left behind. The emigration fever is epidemic among the blacks here and many more are anxious to go. Several of these parties have started before for Africa, but none ever got beyond New York. The members of this party have tickets to New York and will be due Friday by steamer.

Business Man Suicides.

ALBION, Mich., March 6.—Byron H. Crane, a well known business man of this city, committed suicide about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by hanging. Last summer he was interested in the Hotel Manchester during the fair at Chicago. Since the fair closed he has been in poor health, and was despondent on that account. Yesterday afternoon he went home and putting one end of a long loop towel over the door, placed his head through the other end and fell forward.

Demented Woman Shoots Herself.

CIRCLEVILLE, O., March 6.—Mrs. Joseph Boyer committed suicide at her home, in Tarlton, this county, by shooting herself through the head with her husband's revolver. Her mind was affected.

EVENTS IN ENGLAND.

Queen Victoria Prorogues the House of Parliament.

HER SPEECH WAS VERY BRIEF.

She Anticipates Lasting Advantages From the Laws Enacted—Lord Rosebery Calls on Her Majesty—Gladstone's Influence With the Queen—Other News From Across the Ocean.

LONDON, March 6.—The queen's speech proroguing parliament is purely formal, only 15 lines in length, and begins: "Upon this occasion, when your labors have been unprecedented in amount and duration, I regret that your release from them will be little more than nominal."

The queen then thanks the commons for the supplies granted and concludes with the remark that she anticipates lasting advantages from the laws enacted.

Lord Rosebery visited the queen in the afternoon and kissed her hands on his appointment as premier. The new prime minister was cheered by a large crowd of people upon his arrival at and departure from Buckingham Palace.

Lord Rosebery spent the morning conferring with the cabinet ministers and apparently based upon this conference there is in circulation a report to the effect that the Right Hon. John Morley will retain his position as chief secretary for Ireland.

The cabinet situation is complicated by the death of Baron Tweedmouth, father of the Right Hon. Edward Morley, ex-Governor McKinney, Colonel C. S. Venable and Colonel Robert Withers. From the church the procession moved to Spring Hill cemetery, where all that was mortal of the dead Confederate was laid to rest.

JUBAL A EARLY'S FUNERAL.

The Remains of the Dead General Laid to Rest.

LYNCHBURG, Va., March 6.—The funeral of General Jubal Anderson Early took place at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from St. Paul's church, Rev. T. McCarson, the pastor, officiating, assisted by Revs. Hall and Fleming of the Presbyterian church. The procession was an imposing one and was witnessed by thousands of people, who lined the thoroughfare along the entire route.

Hundreds of veterans who served under the dead general during the war, were present from all sections of the state and marched on foot in the procession. Many distinguished Confederates were among the honorary pallbearers, including Generals Eppa Hunton, L. L. Lomax, Fitzhugh Lee, Dabney Maury, ex-Governor McKinney, Colonel C. S. Venable and Colonel Robert Withers.

From the church the procession moved to Spring Hill cemetery, where all that was mortal of the dead Confederate was laid to rest.

Death of a Noted Minister.

DELAWARE, O., March 6.—Rev. Dr. Frederick Merrick, aged 84, who has been connected with the Ohio Wesleyan university, this city, for over 50 years, being president from 1860 to 1874, died from the effects of a stroke of paralysis at his home here at 3:30 o'clock. He has given his entire life, together with property valued at $30,000, to the college.

As an educator, minister and teacher he was known in nearly every state in the Union.

Dangerous Lunatic at Large.

COLUMBUS, O., March 6.—Charles King, the insane man who obtained permission two years ago to visit his home in Circleville, and murdered his mother, made his escape from the Columbus asylum Sunday night. In the absence of the watchman, King broke out of his room, and succeeded in forcing open the elevator door and slid down the ropes from the third story. King is a dangerous man and officers are scouring the country for him.

Mr. Potter Banqueted.

ROME, March 6.—A banquet was given yesterday evening at the Grand hotel in honor of Mr. Potter, the retiring United States minister. The guests included Mr. Wayne MacVeagh, the new United States representative. Mr. Potter offered a toast to King Humbert and Baron Blanc, the foreign minister, in reply, expressed the sincere and cordial friendship and high esteem that had always been felt by the sovereign, the government and the people of Italy toward the Union.

Finally, the queen, upon the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, has made Mr. George W. Spencer Lyttleton and Mr. George H. Murray, Mr. Gladstone's secretaries, companions of the Bath.

Stenographers in Demand.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The civil service commission will hold a special examination for male stenographers at the postoffices in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Cincinnati, commencing March 23. The supply of eligible stenographers is not equal to the demand, and it has been found necessary to give notice of special examinations in order to replenish the registers.

Professor Phelps' Condition.

NEW HAVEN, March 6.—The physicians attending Professor Edward J. Phelps, ex-minister to Great Britain, say that the patient is not improving as rapidly as they had hoped and is still very weak. Arrangements had been made for a southern trip as soon as he should be able to stand the fatigue, but it has been postponed owing to his weak condition.

Smuggler Arrested.

NEW YORK, March 6.—John Jones, the storekeeper on the steamship Lucania of the Cunard line, which arrived in this port on Saturday night, has been arrested by customs inspectors on the charge of smuggling ready made clothing. Forty suits of men's clothing wrapped up in separate packages were found in Jones' apartments in the vessel.

Mortgage Holders Appeal to the Courts.

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 6.—Suit for foreclosure for $340,000 and interest, the appointment of a receiver and the sale of Amos Whiteley & Company's big reaper plant has been filed in court by mortgage holders. General Keifer estimates that the Whiteley plant, machinery, etc., will bring only $175,000, although it is worth fully $350,000.

Peace Reigns in Honduras.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—According to a cable dispatch to the secretary of the navy from Commander Longnecker, on the United States steamship Ranger, the last act in the Honduran revolution has been played, peace has been arranged upon terms satisfactory to all parties, and the government has been turned over to Bonilla, the head of the revolutionary party.

ADVICE TO MINERS.

They Are Urged to Return to Work, but to Prepare for a General Strike.

MASILLON, O., March 5.—The national executive board of the United Mine Workers of America has issued a circular through President McBride and Secretary and Treasurer P. McBryde in which all miners now on a strike are advised to return to work. The circular says that at the meeting of the national executive board, held Feb. 27, 28 and March 1, the present deplorable condition of mining affairs was discussed and resolutions were adopted to the effect that the present would be an inopportune time for action of such a character as would necessitate a stoppage of work in any one or more competing district.

The board calls upon all mine workers to hold themselves in readiness and to prepare for a general strike for higher wages and an improved condition at as early a date as the national convention, which meets in April, may determine. It also calls upon all mine workers now on a strike to so adjust matters in dispute that they may return to work, to the end that all may be prepared to strike together when the time comes for higher wages.

JUBAL A EARLY'S FUNERAL.

The Remains of the Dead General Laid to Rest.

LYNCHBURG, Va., March 6.—The funeral of General Jubal Anderson Early took place at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from St. Paul's church, Rev. T. McCarson, the pastor, officiating, assisted by Revs. Hall and Fleming of the Presbyterian church.

Many distinguished Confederates were among the honorary pallbearers, including Generals Eppa Hunton, L. L. Lomax, Fitzhugh Lee, Dabney Maury, ex-Governor McKinney, Colonel C. S. Venable and Colonel Robert Withers.

Death of the Italian Consul.

NEW YORK, March 6.—The Herald's Rio Janeiro special dispatch says:

Signor Bertola, the Italian consul at this port, died from yellow fever yesterday. The disease continues to spread, and about 200 persons are prostrated with it.

CYCLONE IN MISSOURI.

Considerable Property Destroyed but So Far No Loss of Life is Reported.

ST. LOUIS, March 6.—A special to the Republic from Rich Hill, Mo., says:

The tail end of a cyclone struck this city and vicinity last night. The worst of the storm was from five to 10 miles south of here, where monster trees were uprooted and fell to the ground.

Houses were moved from their foundations, several dwellings unroofed and two of them overturned.

Two men driving toward Rich Hill were picked up, together with their horses, and deposited in a ditch many feet away, but were unharmed.

A number of small buildings were also partially unroofed, fences blown down, window glass shattered, cornices and porches destroyed and considerable minor damage done, though no one was killed or injured.

The wind and hail was followed by very vivid lightning and the severest rainstorm known for years.

Several People Injured.

BUTLER, Mo., March 6.—A severe storm passed over this section last night. A few miles southeast it was almost of cyclonic energy, doing considerable damage. The house of Jasper Smith was totally demolished and he and his wife and two daughters were all injured. One little girl is not expected to live, and Smith's jaw was fractured. A house belonging to George Norris was also destroyed, but no one was hurt. It was a sparsely settled district or the casualties would have been much more numerous.

DUN and Bradstreet unite in saying that business is slowly but steadily improving.

THE Public Ledger hasn't given any explanation yet of the thousands of strikes of late years against a reduction of wages under Republican high tariffs. There were nearly 5,000 of these reductions between 1881 and 1885, when the Democrats were not tinkering the tariff.

The usually very observant editor of the BULLETIN hasn't yet observed that the public debt increased over $40,000,000 last month—the shortest month of the year.—Public Ledger.

The country knows in what a deplorable condition the national finances were when the Democrats came into power a year ago.

It's a matter of history that the big surplus left in the Treasury by Mr. Cleveland in 1889 had been squandered, and the last days of the Harrison administration were spent in the perplexing question as to how to raise sufficient money to conduct the business of the country until the Democrats got in. Secretary Foster was bent upon issuing one hundred millions of 5 per cent. bonds, and even went so far as to have the plates prepared for the issue.

This was in the closing days of the last Republican administration. The G. O. P. knew how unpopular a bond issue would be, and they staved the matter off for the few remaining days of their administration, turning the Treasury over to the Democrats in an almost bankrupt condition.

Notwithstanding this condition of affairs, the Democrats, as the Courier-Journal says, for eleven months managed, by close economy and strict attention to business, to maintain the "parity of the two metals," sustain the public credit and pay off the legitimate contracts of the Government. Then, as a last resort, a bond issue of $50,000,000 was ordered, but at the low rate of 3 per cent. interest.

Instead of $100,000,000 of 5 per cent. bonds, as contemplated by the Republicans, the Democrats get along with $50,000,000 of 3 per cent. bonds.

The editor of the Ledger knows that the increase in the public debt last month is the direct result of the profiteering manner in which the last Republican administration conducted the Government.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by J. James Wood.

THE STATE TREASURY.

Receipts and Disbursements For the Month of February—A Small Deficit.

The State Auditor's accounts show that there should have been in the State Treasury on February 1 last $119,304.90 to the credit of the Sinking Fund; that the receipts for the month were $28,807.44, leaving a credit to this fund of $148,112.34 March 1. February 1, 1894, there should have been in the State Treasury $11,300.91 to the credit of the school fund. The receipts for the month of February were $111,420.12, making $122,721.03. The expenditures were $540.18, leaving a balance of $122,180.85 for March 1. The general expenditure fund should have had a deficit of $133,236.13 February 1. The receipts for February were $119,611.51, thus cutting the deficit down to $13,624.62, but the expenditures for the same month were $271,215.08, which made the deficit for March 1 $284,839.70.

The Auditor's accounts, therefore, show that on March 1 the sinking fund and school fund gave a joint credit or balance of $270,293.19, while the general expenditure fund shows a deficit of $284,839.70, leaving all the funds considered, a positive deficit of $14,546.50.

These figures have not been checked over with the books of the State Treasurer, but the Auditor is confident that no discrepancy exceeding a few hundred dollars would be disclosed by the most accurate comparison.

During the succeeding three or four months the Auditor thinks that perhaps about $10,000 due from railroads might be collected, about $150,000 of license tax and about $60,000 from corporations, franchisees and the like.

An Excellent Programme.

The Ben Franklin Lyceum has arranged a most enjoyable entertainment for the public this evening at their hall, "Cox Building," commencing at 7 o'clock sharp. Subject for debate: "Resolved, That Foreign Languages Should be Taught in Our Public Schools." Affirmative, H. C. Curran and Gordon Sulser; negative, C. Burgess Taylor and Garrett Thompson. Declamations by Ben T. Cox, Charles E. Cox and Horace Wilson.

Let everybody turn out and fill the room to its fullest capacity. We will insure you a nice time without a doubt. All we want is a crowded house. The speakers then can become inspired and more easily can they entertain you. Turn out, everybody.

Revival Services.

The services yesterday at the M. E. Church, South, manifested more favorable indications of an extended revival than at any time before. There was one conversion at the afternoon service and two requests for prayers at night. "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden," was Rev. Mr. Henderson's text at night, and the eloquent young minister had the closest attention throughout. His illustrations were apt and convincing and the discourse was a strong appeal to sinners to give up the life they are leading. Services to-day at 3 p. m. and 6:45 p. m. The public invited.

The revival services at the Methodist Episcopal Church on Third Street last night resulted in nine conversions, two additions to the membership, and several others asked for prayer. "Jesus is passing this way." If you desire to help in this glorious work, come to the services beginning promptly at 7 p. m., and come praying. Don't forget the 5 o'clock secret prayer.

The Springfield correspondent of the Public Ledger, or the editor of that paper, shows his appreciation of school teachers in general by using the word "pedagogue" as a term of "reproach."

Shame on you! Webster defines pedagogue, when used as a noun, as meaning in the original, to lead a child; and, as more generally used, teacher of children; one whose occupation is to instruct children; a school master. If to be a school teacher is not respectable, going to school is not respectable, and education itself is in disgrace. Education is light, and light dispels illusion, and illusion is only another name for Republican.

A steer belonging to C. A. Taylor, which had baffled the efforts of several steamboat crews to get him on board, was shipped Monday on the Henry M. Stanley.

Another Surprise

Is in store for lovers of fine cigars who have not as yet tested the delightful influence of an "El Principe de Gale" London 10 cent cigar—"aroma of the gods"—good from end to end, and always the same. BROWN AND CLAY.

It is claimed they have combined to pluck the Governorship and Senatorship.

Covington Post: "A surprising and sensational combination has been formed by two old political enemies. Governor Brown and Cassius M. Clay, Jr., are advising between themselves and their friends."

"Brown is out for the Senatorial plum and Clay the Governorship. Three years ago they were contestants for the same office and much bitterness entered into the canvass and convention."

"Colonel Edmund H. Gaither, of Harrodsburg, who is at the head of the Second Regiment, Kentucky State Guard, is at the Emery. He is here on political, legal and military business. Colonel Gaither happens to be a close friend of General Wat Hardin, one of the Gubernatorial probabilities. If he is successful, Colonel Gaither will be appointed Adjutant General of the State. Said the latter to a Post reporter: 'I passed through Frankfort and met there both Hardin and Clay. Senator Blackburn was expected to arrive any moment and of course Brown is at the scene of political action in his official capacity. Things are getting hot, sure. The Brown-Clay combination was discovered by the Hardin men only the other day in a most peculiar way. The colored porters at the mansion were out on the street doing some talking for Clay and offering to bet that he would win. This was thought to be strange, in the face of what Governor Brown's opinion of Clay was thought to be. A quiet investigation brought to the surface the true state of things. Brown and Clay wanted the secret to hold for a while yet.'

"You see Brown is to help Clay in Western Kentucky for Governor, and Clay has pledged his support in Eastern Kentucky for United States Senator. It looks to me like a losing game for both. Congressman McCreary and Senator Blackburn, who are Brown's opponents, are forced to take a hand in the Gubernatorial fight for Hardin, while he naturally will exert his influence in behalf of anybody to beat Brown."

"Has Blackburn serious opposition for re-election?"

"Yes, he has, and I do not expect to see him get there again. He is himself satisfied that there is trouble ahead, and it is for this reason that he is in Kentucky now to prepare to fix up his political fences. The Clay and John S. Williams influences being against him in his own end of the State will injure his chances for success very materially. The dark horse stands the best show, and if Hardin is made Governor—and I firmly believe he will be—there is every reason to believe that he may be Blackburn's successor in the United States Senate."

The Phoenix.

Milton Nobles is one of the best of America's character actors. He is, moreover, a man esteemed in and out of the profession for his personal worth, and it is therefore particularly gratifying to learn that his season thus far has been very successful.

"The Phoenix," his great play, will be rendered here March 10th. The play is staged with special scenery and is found to have attraction enough in its new form to be employed by Mr. Nobles to the exclusion of all the other plays of the repertoire.

"The Phoenix" was written by Mr. Nobles in 1875 and was his first, and has remained his best, starring piece. It is one of the best of the distinctively American comedies. Its characters are nearly all types readily recognized. One of the most unique is that of Moses Solomon, in which Mr. M. B. Curtis first attracted attention and which enabled him afterward to go a-starring in "Sam'l o' Posen." The part is now played by Sam Morris, who is said to be very successful.

What Mr. Hicks Says About it

March will have great extremes of weather, immense rains and snows, and altogether the greatest variety of weather, the greatest extremes that have occurred in March for years. This condition will continue till about the 7th of April, after which dry cold weather will continue to the end of the month.

The weather looks bad for spring farming and while nine times out of ten early planting is best, this year appears to be the exception, and, in northern corn belts, planting in May will be more successful than earlier planting.

The difficulties, however, will probably be remedied, to some extent, by favorable weather later in the season and late frosts in the fall. Killing April frosts are threatened in southern latitudes where April frosts sometimes occur. Fair crops are expected for 1894. Rainy years seldom cause crop failures.

MAD DOGS.

One Bites Two Children Near Manchester—Rabid Canines Reported All About Aberdeen.

JAMES Little who lives in Ohio, about ten miles above Aberdeen, took his two sons to Cincinnati yesterday to have a madstone applied to wounds inflicted last Friday by a dog supposed to have been suffering with hydrophobia. He will take them to Dr. Wamsley, of Cleves, for treatment.

Last Friday a four-months-old Newfoundland pup, which Mr. Little had raised, was lying near a creek which runs past his house, and his son, Charley, aged thirteen, went down and in a playful manner threw his right arm around the dog's neck, which the animal quickly grabbed and bit. The little fellow ran to the house crying, and his brother, Ralph, aged fifteen, went down to kill the dog. When he approached, the dog sprang at him, biting him on the arm. Mr. Little, after a great deal of trouble, succeeded in killing the dog. It is supposed the animal was bitten by a mad dog that was in the neighborhood about three weeks ago, which bit at least one hundred dogs, several of which have since gone mad and have been killed. Mad dogs are reported all around Aberdeen. Three people were bitten by a mad dog at East Fork, about five miles from there last week, says a special from Aberdeen.

DESPERATE, BUT FUTILE.

A Well Laid Scheme For Liberating Two Convicts on Their Way to Prison.

"I never understood," remarked a general passenger agent while discussing a recent train robbery, "how it was that a whole trainful of people would allow themselves to be held up by one or two bandits till some years ago, when I was making a trip over the Michigan Central road. Then the mystery was explained to me. I was on my way from Detroit to Chicago and had taken a seat in the smoking car to enjoy my cigar."

"At the time the smoking cars of the Michigan Central were equipped with comfortable revolving chairs. Shortly after taking my seat I noticed that there were two convicts aboard. They were in charge of two deputies and were being conveyed from Detroit to the state prison at Jackson. They sat there talking to their guards complacently as if they had been going to some more agreeable entertainment. All went well until Ypsilanti was reached. Half way between that place and Ann Arbor is a small road crossing named Geddes. As we approached it an ordinary looking passenger went through the car in a careless manner, rolling his eyes from side to side, casually inspecting the occupants of the car. When he reached the prisoners, he pulled a whisky flask from his pocket and in an offhand way remarked: 'Here, you fellows, have a drink. It will be a long time before you have another.'

The convicts accepted the invitation, took a good long pull from the bottle and handed it back to their apparently chance acquaintance, who pocketed it and passed into the next car. Hardly had he disappeared when the convicts, with a motion quick as flash, pulled two revolvers from somewhere on the seats beside them and presented them at their guards. Before any one in the car had time to realize what was taking place those revolvers were going bang! bang! just as fast as the triggers could be pulled. The only men who appeared to have any presence of mind were the two deputies. They had seen the two revolvers coming, and by some dexterous move managed to strike up the convicts' arms so that the balls, instead of striking the victims for whom they were intended, passed through the roof of the car. While the scuffle was at its height the bellrope was pulled in some mysterious manner, and the train came to a dead stop at the crossroads near Geddes station, where a fast team of horses hitched to a light wagon was standing. By the time the train stopped, though, the convicts had been overpowered by their guards, but not until 18 shots had been fired.

"The whole thing was evidently a concerted scheme to liberate the convicts. The man with the whisky flask was an ally, and his tender of the whisky was a signal that everything was ready and the time for action had come. The attempt at escape fortunately failed, but if you had seen that car while the shots were being fired you could readily have understood how easily a few armed robbers overpower a train. Every chair in the car was vacant, and the former occupants were crouching in corners or wherever they could hide themselves behind some object that might stop a bullet. When everything was quiet again and the convicts were in irons, no less than 15 men were counted coming from the dressing room of that smoking car." —Chicago Post.

A NERVY WOMAN DANCER.

While New York is enjoying exhibitions of the prowess of Herr Sandow, the crowning point of which is the holding of a parlor grand piano on his chest, with four men fiddling on the top of the piano, Paris is enjoying the performance of a "serpentine dancer," Mlle. Sandow, who does her dancing inside a cage containing ferocious looking lions. The lions are made to do some performing on their own account, when, to quote from the foreign contemporary, suddenly all the lights are put out except the limelight from the wings, thrown directly on the cage, and Mlle. Sandow appears in her voluminous draperies, which she handles most adroitly and gracefully.

The lions seemed very ill at ease, however, during the constant changing of light, and once the lioness made a savage spring at the intrepid danseuse, who, for the moment, was pushed up against the bars. The dance was stopped until the savage animal was induced to go back to her place and then immediately resumed with the utmost sang froid. This at the end of the nineteenth century!

People speak with horror of the gladiatorial contests in Roman arenas, and yet it is to be doubted if they were any more brutal than this. The ancient Romans at least selected men to face such dangers. If one scratches deep enough, it is to be feared that he will find as much of the barbarian under the dress coat as under the toga.

Negro Lynched.

ST. LOUIS, March 6.—A special to The Republic from Atlanta says: A telegram just received from Collins, Tattnall county, tells of the lynching there last night of a negro named Sylvester Rhodes who had brutally murdered a prominent young white man. The negro was caught at Jessup last night, and as soon as the officers reached Collins with him they were surrounded by a mob that took the prisoner and shot him to death.

Election in Chile.

BUENOS AIRES, March 6.—The elections for members of the Chilean congress, according to a dispatch received here from Santiago, resulted in favor of the Liberals and Balmacedists.

ELECTION IN IOWA.

Municipal Contests Held in a Number of Different Cities.

DES MOINES, March 6.—Municipal elections were held in a number of cities throughout Iowa yesterday. The weather all over the state was extremely disagreeable, and in most places the vote was light. The Republicans made gains in several cities that have been steadily Republican and in some others gained slightly in councilmen. Their largest gain was in Iowa City, where they carried every ward but one.

In Cedar Rapids there was a spirited contest, resulting in a victory for the Democrats, they re-electing their mayor by 500 majority and electing all other city officers save the treasurer. The council stands four Republicans, four Democrats.

At Muscatine the Democrats elected mayor and two out of four city officers. They also secured two of the four aldermen.

At Burlington, as the result of a Democratic split, Eugene Buttes, Republican, was elected mayor, and the Republicans also secured three aldermen. Buttes is the first Republican mayor since 1888.

In all the places heard from Prohibition, or rather the question of modifying the present law, does not seem to have played any part. Several points are yet to be heard from, however.

TO WRECK A TRAIN.

Rocks Placed on the Southern Pacific Tracks For That Purpose.

HOUSTON, March 6.—Last night, for the second time, an attempt was made to wreck the Southern Pacific passenger train near Stafford, rocks being placed on the track for the purpose. A freight train ran into the pile, but nobody was hurt.

The passenger train, coming along later, ran over and cut the head off a negro woman named Mary Jones. She had been paid a considerable sum of money an hour before. None being found on her person, it is thought she was killed and placed on the track.

PROBABLY EXCEEDING HER AUTHORITY.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., March 6.—Mrs. Eva Blackman, Leavenworth's woman police commissioner, who recently caused the removal of all the bachelors from the police force, has now set in to rid the town of variety theatres. Yesterday evening she had official notices served on the proprietors of such places to close up and leave the city within 30 days. Mrs. Blackman's new movement may lead to an interesting legal contest.

HORSELESS CARRIAGES.

Paris Journal Offers Cash Prizes For a Novel Competition.

The plucky little Petit Journal of Paris—little in size, only for its circulation it is great—which sent bicycles into fashion through its prize matches, now offers a large temptation to ingenious skill. In the year 1894, on June 1, there will be a competition for the best carriages to wheel without a horse—for the economical accommodation of paterfamilias and his family. Steam, electricity, gas, petroleum, anything, in fact, giving power and speed with safety, will be tolerated—and all nations will be welcomed. The jury will be composed of the staff of The Journal, with a suitable number of engineers thrown in.

Each carriage must hold four persons. It is intended as an offset to the egotism of the cycle. The carriage must be of easy management and not costly on the road. The trial trips will be made on good roads from Paris to Mantes, Paris to Dreux, to Beauvais and so on. Fifty kilometers in three hours is the speed required. Anything more will be admired, but not paid for. No luxury fitting up will influence the decision. Rapidity, security, economy and safety are the watchwords.

Ten francs is the cost of admittance, and this fund goes in any case to the Caisse du Secours de The Petit Journal. This is merely done to prevent useless presentation. The prizes are 5,000 francs, 2,000 francs, 1,500 francs, 1,000 francs and 500 francs. The list of competitors will be closed on the 30th of April next.

ACCIDENT AT A PRIZE FIGHT.

One of the Principals Falls Through the Stage and Injures His Leg.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., March 6.—The Haehl-Skatski fight was brought abruptly to a close in the second round by an accident. Four hundred sports and citizens were at the ringside, and the principals were in perfect condition and evenly matched in size.

The first round was a real slugging match, both landing frequently and with telling effect. Both were bleeding freely and winded considerably.

In the second round Haehl fought savagely and landed heavily on Skatski's jaw and ribs, but got several hard punches in return. They clinched, and as they broke away, Haehl landed heavily, staggering Skatski towards the rope, when some one tipped a broad plank off the stage and he fell through the opening, and when rescued from his prison was unable to resume the fight.

His leg was badly sprained, but the crowd yelled for the fight to proceed. Chris Zimmerman, the referee, gave the fight to Harry Haehl of Indianapolis. The two are not satisfied and will meet again as soon as Skatski recovers.

Found Dead in Bed.

DENVER, March 6.—George M. Norton, one of the most prominent mining experts in the west, was found dead in bed this morning, the cause being a severe asthmatic attack and fatty degeneration of the heart. Deceased went from Rochester, N. Y., in 1865 to Virginia City, Nev., where he became famous as the "boy broker." He was a protege of John W. Mackay, and at 25 years of age was made superintendent of the Comstock lode.

Electrical Storm in Texas.

GAINSVILLE, Tex., March 6.—The most severe electrical storm in years passed over this section last night, accompanied by heavy wind and rain. A large number of houses were unroofed and several overturned. T. A. Meserve's stock barn was burned with its contents, including several head of valuable horses. Much damage is reported done to Santa Fe railroad bridges in the Indian Territory.

Imported Laborers.

MILWAUKEE, March 6.—A warrant charging Mr. Murphy, the contractor, who is building the intake tunnel, with violating the alien labor contract law by bringing five of his fellow residents of Sarnia to Milwaukee to work at the intake, has been issued and Mr. Murphy will be arrested. The complainants have been advised by counsel that the charge may not stick if it be true that Mr. Murphy is a resident of Canada.
